

I do not want the FCC to implement any proposal that would lessen Indiana's Telephone Privacy law protections. Since I signed up with the no-call list, I rarely receive any unsolicited or unwanted telemarketing calls, which has greatly improved the quality of my time at home. I should be able to decide who will have my home phone number. If I want to obtain a charge card or change my long distance carrier, I have the capability of making the call to obtain the information I need and to sign up with any service I want. I do not appreciate being harassed at home by companies trying to sell me something or to solicit funds.
